Across
2. Costs that are necessary to the overall operation of a project
4. An award that does not involve deliverables or elaborate reporting requirements
8. Used to conduct official National Science Foundation business over the Internet
9. Type of Cost Sharing
10. Tangible nonexpendable personal property including exempt property charged directly to the award
12. Employee benefits paid by the employer
13. A collector of expenses and revenues for a specific project or purpose. In SAP, cost objects include cost centers, internal orders and Project WBS elements.
14. The difference between the current negotiated F&A rate that MIT charges to a research project, and the rate that the project’s sponsor is willing to pay
15. Interval of time, usually twelve months, into which the project period is divided for budgetary and funding purposes.

Down
1. The description of the work to be performed on a project
3. A procedure mandated by the federal government to verify that direct labor charges to sponsored projects are reasonable
5. Agreement written for multi-sponsor support of a sponsored program.
6. Scheduled reports often required by a sponsor, summarizing progress to date on the research, finances or other aspects of the project.
7. MIT’s method of charging for vacation time for employees being charged to sponsored projects.
11. An award made directly to an individual in support of specific educational pursuits